DISCOVER THE WORLD IN ONE CLASSROOM

My key takeaway is the aspect of continuous learning. In most of the courses, the professors deconstructed many current topics, so that even for me as an undergraduate finance-oriented student, I learned a tremendous amount of knowledge in my finance courses and viewed live events from various perspectives.

Patrick Markus Werr
Germany, Class of 2025

A standout for me was the course on 'Competing Globally', taught by Professor Andrew Delios. This course provided an in-depth exploration of strategic issues faced by leading companies operating in global markets. The innovative teaching approach, which involved case studies and group discussions, facilitated not just collaboration, but also provided enriched learning experiences.
